It has been another super week at Carleton Green. Hawk's Class assembly made a wonderful start to our assemblies for the year. The children confidently shared their learning with the school and their families. I loved the rap at the start! I have also heard about the efforts of pupils outside of school that I feel I must share with you all. One of our junior pupils organised a successful Macmillan Coffee & Cake afternoon last weekend and one of our Ducklings ran in the Race for Life. Both boys have raised money for Cancer research. I am very proud that they have given up their time for such a worthy cause. We also have a budding actor in our midst with Callum Woolford successfully securing a part in a televised drama. Again, I am thrilled. He not only clearly has got the talent but has got both the ambition and confidence to audition.

The Treasure Hunt seemed to go well with many smiles. I would like to thank all those involved in the running of this event as the teaching staff and myself were busy with training. Whilst saying our thank yous we are very appreciative of any help we receive and are especially grateful to the Caunce family who have taken all our old furniture away and cleared the site outside our school hall.

Thank you for your continued support in and out of school, Susan McGrath, Headteacher and Sapphire Murray, Deputy Headteacher.

Mrs Hicks has begun the outdoor learning sessions with children from a range of classes. She has turned the once tired and cluttered PE shed into a wonderful outdoor learning space. Already the children are buzzing with enthusiasm for the activities she has planned. As with all aspects of learning our children are being taught about the possible hazards of working with the outdoors and soil and are encouraged to bring a complete change of clothing as well as to wash their hands after their session.

Mrs Harding has had some very exciting news she would like to share with you all as she is expecting her second child in the new year. She is a highly conscientious and dedicated member of our teaching staff and as such intends to work until close to her due date late January. This naturally will concern the parents of children in Owls' Class but please be reassured that the teacher that will cover her maternity leave will have equally high standards.

Miss Murray's section:

It has been another lovely but busy week in school with lots of exciting and interesting learning opportunities taking place. It has been great to see Outdoor Learning begin with Mrs Hicks and the children thriving from these activities. Similarly, Hawks class assembly was a great chance to display learning which has already taken place. IDL is still having some issues and the company itself have said to make sure if you are accessing it on an iPad or iPhone, it has to have the new IOS10 software update running. Please bear with us regarding IDL and we will continue to work on issues the software seems to be having.

Details of trips/visitors to enhance the learning taking place for your children are to come very soon. We are very excited that we are having a theatre group come to school so that all our children can watch Aladdin. This is booked for the 20th November.

Thank you for your continued support in and out of school, Susan McGrath, Headteacher and Sapphire Murray, Deputy Headteacher.
